The figure consists of five small, square black and white photographs arranged horizontally. Each photograph shows a person from the waist up, performing a backbend. The person's head is tilted back, and their arms are extended upwards. The background is a plain, light color. The person's torso is arched, and their hands are reaching towards their feet. The sequence of photos shows the progression of the movement from a standing position to a full backbend.

16. Chlorophyll a and Chlorophyll b are the two main photosynthetic pigments in green plants. They are responsible for the green color of leaves. Chlorophyll a is the primary pigment, and chlorophyll b is an accessory pigment. They both absorb light energy and transfer it to the reaction center where photosynthesis takes place.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were 10 women, 40 to 50 years of age, who were sedentary and had no cardiovascular or pulmonary disease. The subjects were randomly assigned to either a control group or a training group. The control group continued with their sedentary lifestyle, while the training group participated in a 10-week training program consisting of three sessions per week of aerobic exercise. The HR and EE were measured at rest and during exercise at the beginning and end of the 10-week period. The results showed that the training group had a significant decrease in HR and a significant increase in EE compared to the control group. The findings suggest that a 10-week training program can improve the cardiovascular and metabolic health of sedentary, middle-aged women.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were 12 sedentary women, 40 to 50 years of age, who were randomly assigned to a 12-week training program or a control group. The training program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 30 minutes, and included a combination of aerobic and resistance training. The control group consisted of 12 sedentary women who did not participate in the training program. The HR and EE were measured at rest and during a 30-minute exercise session at the beginning and end of the 12-week period. The results showed that the training program had a significant effect on the HR and EE of the women. The HR increased significantly from 70 to 75 beats per minute, and the EE increased significantly from 1,200 to 1,400 kcal per day. The control group showed no significant changes in HR or EE. The results suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the cardiovascular fitness and energy expenditure of sedentary, middle-aged women.
